COMMENTARY

The end of June also wraps up the first half of 2024 and was certainly full of surprises, not unlike a typical year. Investor sentiment shifted from wondering if the rally was sustainable to wondering how high the market could go. In fact, the S&P 500 averaged a new all-time high approximately every four days through the first half of the year. Looking forward, the second half of the year will likely continue to have surprises with an election, potentially the first (or second) rate cut by the Fed and seasonal market forces that should keep investors engaged and likely be full of surprises.

OVERALL MORNINGSTAR™ RATING

Based on risk adjusted returns among 71 funds in the Derivative Income category (as of 6/30/24)

During June, the Amplify CWP Enhanced Dividend Income ETF (DIVO) returned 0.95% while the benchmark, the S&P 500 TR Index, returned 3.59% and the CBOE S&P 500 BuyWrite Index returned 1.77%. The Information Technology sector (+6.67%) was the biggest contributor to returns followed by Consumer Discretionary (+2.91%) and Health Care (+1.73%).¹ Financials (-1.76%) contributed the least to the return during the period followed by Materials (-7.83%). Positions that detracted most from returns in June included Freeport-McMoRan (FCX) and Visa (V).

No new positions were added to the Fund during the month, but several existing positions were added to. Freeport McMoRan (FCX), Honeywell (HON) and Verizon (VZ) were added to during June. The Fund's position in Cisco (CSCO) was trimmed as it has underperformed against the broader Technology sector, despite being reasonably priced with good free cash flow and an attractive yield.

Index Definitions: All indexes are unmanaged and it's not possible to invest directly in an index. S&P 500 Total Return Index—market-capitalization-weighted index of the 500 largest U.S. publicly traded companies by market value, and assumes distributions are reinvested back into the index. It does not include fees or expenses. CBOE S&P 500 BuyWrite Index (BXM)—tracks the performance of a hypothetical buy-write strategy on the S&P 500 Index. A “buy-write” strategy is generally one in which an investor buys a stock (or basket of stocks), and also writes covered calls that correspond to those holdings.

DIVO differs substantially from the S&P 500 Index and CBOE S&P 500 BuyWrite index, which are used for comparison purposes as widely recognized measures of U.S. stock market performance. While the returns of DIVO have exhibited positive (but varying) correlation to the indexes over time, DIVO may invest in different stocks and in different proportions than in the S&P 500 index and CBOE S&P 500 BuyWrite index.

¹All percentages shown indicate total return of the sector for the month.

²A covered call refers to a financial transaction in which the investor selling call options owns an equivalent amount of the underlying security.

THIS MATERIAL MUST BE PROCEEDED OR ACCOMPANIED BY A FUND PROSPECTUS. Read the prospectus carefully before investing.

Investing involves risk, including the possible loss of principal. You could lose money by investing in the Fund. There can be no assurance that the Fund's investment objectives will be achieved. Covered call risk is the risk that the Fund will forgo, during the option's life, the opportunity to profit from increases in the market value of the security covering the call option above the sum of the premium and the strike price of the call, but has retained the risk of loss should the price of the underlying security decline. The Fund may invest in mid-capitalization companies. This may cause the Fund to be more vulnerable to adverse general market or economic developments because such securities may be less liquid and subject to greater price volatility than those of larger, more established companies. Because the Fund is non-diversified and can invest a greater portion of its assets in securities of individual issuers than a diversified fund, changes in the market value of a single investment could cause greater fluctuations in Share price than would occur in a diversified fund.

The Morningstar Rating™ for funds, or “star rating”, is calculated for managed products (including mutual funds, variable annuity and variable life subaccounts, exchange-traded funds, closed-end funds, and separate accounts) with at least a three-year history. Exchange-traded funds and open-ended mutual funds are considered a single population for comparative purposes. It is calculated based on a Morningstar Risk-Adjusted Return measure that accounts for variation in a managed product's monthly excess performance, placing more emphasis on downward variations and rewarding consistent performance. The Morningstar Rating does not include any adjustment for sales loads. The top 10% of products in each product category receive 5 stars, the next 22.5% receive 4 stars, the next 35% receive 3 stars, the next 22.5% receive 2 stars, and the bottom 10% receive 1 star. The Overall Morningstar Rating for a managed product is derived from a weighted average of the performance figures associated with its three-, five-, and 10-year (if applicable) Morningstar Rating metrics. The weights are: 100% three-year rating for 36-59 months of total returns, 60% five-year rating/40% three-year rating for 60-119 months of total returns, and 50% 10-year rating/30% five-year rating/20% three-year rating for 120 or more months of total returns. While the 10-year overall star rating formula seems to give the most weight to the 10-year period, the most recent three-year period actually has the greatest impact because it is included in all three rating periods. DIVO received 5 stars among 71 funds in the Derivative Income category for the overall, 4 stars among 71 funds for the 3-year, and 5 stars among 65 funds for the 5-year periods ending 6/30/24.
